COMPANIONS ON A JOURNEY
WELCOMES YOU TO OUR 6TH ANNUAL

All Star Gala
Saturday, November 10th

Celebrating the All Stars of our lives and Honoring Child Grief Awareness
2018
Dear COJ friends,

It is with deep gratitude that we welcome you to our 6th Annual All Star Gala. As we gather this evening to honor the All Stars of our lives and those looking upon us tonight from up above, we give thanks to our Heavenly Father for the abundant blessings HE continues to pour upon our COJ family.

We also take time to celebrate the All Star individuals and organizations among us who continue to propel us forward in the wake of loss. Please take a few moments to learn more about tonight’s award recipients and all the ways they’re bringing hope and comfort to the bereaved of our community.

When the seeds of Companions on a Journey were planted upon my heart nearly 20+ years ago, I could never have imagined how God would grow our family tree in such inspiring ways. Today, with YOUR support, we humbly serve more than 4,000 children, adults and family members each year, bringing HOPE, STRENGTH, and HEALING to those in grief when they need it most.

Through your generous support of tonight’s gala and throughout the year, we hope to expand our services, ensuring that no one grieves alone. This is a transformational time for Companions on a Journey as we become even more intentional about increasing our organizational resources to better support the growing population of bereaved individuals within our community.

It is with great excitement that I share with you our dream to one day open the doors of a Bereavement Center. While we’re not yet certain how we’ll get there, we trust that ‘with God all things are possible’ (Matthew 19:29).

In the coming weeks and months, you’ll begin to notice some changes around COJ, including a brand new logo and in early 2019, a re-designed website! We invite you to discern how you might become part of our transformation – whether it’s rolling up your sleeves as a COJ volunteer, connecting us with local businesses who have a heart for those facing grief, following us on Facebook, or continuing to spread the mission of COJ within your personal circles of influence.

At Companions on a Journey, we believe in the healing power of community, and we couldn’t be more grateful to have YOU as a treasured member of the COJ family!

Yours in Christ,
Sheila Munafo-Kanoza

Rooted in God’s Love

Out of tragic loss, the seeds of Companions on a Journey were planted more than 20 years ago as a way of providing HOPE, STRENGTH, and HEALING to the bereaved children and families of our community.

With much compassion and care, these seeds have grown and flourished over the years into a beautiful, vibrant tree of love, providing shade, comfort and shelter to many.

When we experience the death of a loved one, our lives often feel as if they’re unraveling. It can be a confusing time, a time filled with a mixture of conflicting and changing emotions.

Each person’s grief experience is unique and quite often it can be difficult for friends and family members to fully understand what we’re going through. It’s a tough reality that at the exact time when we need to connect with others the most, connection can often be so very hard.

This is where Companions on a Journey comes in.

Like a sturdy tree, COJ provides us with roots to stay grounded during the storm and supports the growth of new buds of healing with love as we prepare to emerge from winter, working always, within our own personal timelines.

The journey of grief is not an easy one.

It takes us deep inside the depths of ourselves – to our beliefs, our assumptions, our identity, our relationships, and more. Just as storms make trees stronger, you, too, will discover newfound strength as you bravely move forward in your grief — one day, one hour, and sometimes even just one moment at a time.
All are welcome

Companions on a Journey is grateful to have served as a grounding force in the lives of the children, adults, and families who have sought refuge under our branches over the years.

Like the diverse colors and sizes of each heart upon this tree, we recognize that each person's grief journey is unique. And yet, like these hearts demonstrate, our stories are intertwined, our lives connected.

Our work is personal. Everyone who connects with us, whether for a single session or for a lifetime, holds a special place within our family tree.

Like a bird, you may land in COJ's branches for a brief season to rest your weary wings. Or, perhaps you'll choose to become part of our tree by paying it forward and sheltering others. Either way, your simple presence here is a blessing, always.

While the roots of COJ are founded in faith, our branches welcome everyone from the young to the old, people from all backgrounds, and those of all religions, identities, and affiliations, without exception. Grief does not discriminate, and neither do we.

At COJ, we celebrate differences, while recognizing our shared humanity.

“All are welcome

“Blessed is the man who trusts in the Lord, whose trust is the Lord. He is like a tree planted by water, that sends out its roots by the stream, and does not fear when heat comes, for its leaves remain green, and is not anxious in the year of drought, for it does not cease to bear fruit.” — Jeremiah 17:7-8 ESV
Hope, Strength & Healing Award

Presented annually to an individual (s) who through their professional and personal lives continue reaching out to the bereaved of our community, offering Hope, Strength and Healing.

Elizabeth Joy Cassinari
Mother

There are many words that could be used to describe Elizabeth Joy Cassinari; wife, mother-of-three, daughter, sister, stay-at-home mom, homeschooling momma, friend, daughter-in-law, 33 year-old. However, on May 1, 2016, two new labels were added when her best friend and husband, Jordan Pieniazek was tragically killed at the age of 31. In the blink of an eye, she now reluctantly assumed the labels, widow and single mom.

In her own words —

“In the past two and half years I have seen God’s face — Never ending, never changing, never giving up always and forever love — pour out onto the kids and I. Tangible evidence of this is Companions on a Journey and how they have helped me pursue the truth of my story, even finding life in it and inviting others now to do the same. COJ has helped me discover new passions such as writing (which I never knew I could do) and speaking (which I never knew I would enjoy). My hope in this new chapter of life is to invite people to see that in great pain, there can be great hope and in great sadness, there can be great joy.”

These new passions, and Liz’s willingness to reach out to others, demonstrating that life does and can go on even after the darkest of times are the reasons why we were excited to present Elizabeth Joy Cassinari with the 2018 Hope, Strength and Healing Award.
At the age of 31, just seven months after celebrating their wedding, Bre Wolterman became widowed when her husband Patrick bravely responded to an arson fire for the Hamilton Fire Department.

In her own words —

“Through many mutual friends, I got in touch with Sheila not long after the fire. Somehow she knew everything I was thinking and feeling — because she herself was widowed at a young age, I started attending the Young Widow’s group regularly. It was comforting to meet and talk with (and sometimes laugh with!) people who had lost their spouses at a young age.

Two years after Patrick died, I became a board member for COJ. COJ to me means never having to go this journey alone. COJ means having supportive people around who get it. COJ means a little bit of normalcy for those of us who are grieving a loved one.”

In addition to serving on COJ’s board of directors, Bre works as an Early Childhood Teacher for Lakota Schools. In recognition of Bre’s commitment of time and talent to the bereaved through COJ, and for being such a shining inspiration to many, we are excited to present Bre Wolterman with the 2018 Hope, Strength and Healing Award.
Neurosurgery has always been a part of Dr. Michael Kachmann’s life. His father and half-brother are neurosurgeons and his father taught him the importance of treating people.

Dr. Kachmann grew up in Fort Wayne, Indiana, and earned his undergraduate degree from Manchester University and his medical degree from the Indiana University School of Medicine. He joined the Mayfield Clinic in June 2014. Since arriving in Cincinnati, he has treated hundreds of patients and created connections that extend far beyond the operating room.

Sometimes, even heroes need someone to come to their rescue. That was the case for Robert, a veteran firefighter who for years had battled ruptured spinal discs as well as fires. When 15 years of back pain and ice packs finally gave way to a persistent limp and numbness in one of his toes, he found his way to the Mayfield Clinic and the office of Michael Kachmann, MD.

“He came into the office and talked to me for 15 to 20 minutes. After he was finished talking to me, he went to look at my medical records. That was very impressive. I was not a medical record to him, but was a patient. He established a connection with me.”

Other patient’s shared —

“He’s so easy-going, so friendly. He’s professional and personable, and he talks your language.”

“He was the one who called me to let me know he thought he could help me — And, he did. It was the best thing that ever happened to me.”

Upon meeting Tom Kanoza at a COJ gathering, soon after Tom’s brother had died, the first thing Dr. Kachmann noticed was the grief in Tom’s eyes. “Tom you look like you need a hug. May I give you a hug?” And, so their connection began.

Whether it’s within his office, in the community or even on the golf course, Dr. Kachmann is always practicing what his father taught him — to care for the person, not the film. This is just one of the many reasons we are recognizing Dr. Kachmann with the Hope, Strength, and Healing Award.
Russ retired in 2004 as Director of Sales & Marketing for Cincinnati Sub-Zero Products after working there for 19 years. Russ has contributed his time and expertise to Companions on a Journey, where he was an original Board Member and served as the Social Outreach Coordinator for COJ’s monthly dinner groups for more than 12 years!

For the past six years, Russ has taught an evening business class entitled, “Start Your Own Business,” at Great Oaks Institute of Technology and Career Development Center. As a member of the Executive Service Corp of Cincinnati (ESSC), Russ was involved in the Kennedy Heights Arts Center-Cultural Center project. Additionally, Russ volunteers for the West Chester Hospital.

In his free time, Russ remains active at Four Bridges Country Club - playing golf, Texas Hold ‘Em and Euchre. He also enjoys traveling with friends, riding his bike and working out at the gym. Russ is an avid Kansas University (Jayhawks) basketball fan and a University of Texas (Longhorns) football fan.

A veteran of the U.S. Navy, Russ served aboard the Destroyer, DD 564 during the Cold War years. As we prepare to celebrate Veterans Day throughout the United States, we acknowledge Russ this evening for his unending service to our country and community, and we celebrate his deep commitment to being present to the bereaved. Congratulations, Russ! Your servant’s heart of gold continues to bring HOPE to many!

The goal is to bring attention to the fact that support can make all the difference in the life of a grieving child. Together, we acknowledge the painful impact that the death of a loved one has in the life of a child. We commit to ensuring these children receive the support they need.

Children who have experienced the death of someone important to them often feel like their struggles are invisible to those around them. They need advocates.

Companions on a Journey is committed to providing hope, strength, and healing for the bereaved - one child, one teen, one adult, one family at a time.

We believe that you’re never too old or too young to benefit from the compassionate, healing support of community. That’s why we offer a variety of monthly school and community-based child, teen, adult and family support groups to meet each person wherever they are on their grief journey.

BY THE NUMBERS

- 4,000+ Local bereaved individuals served by COJ in 2017
- 650+ Children and teens currently supported by COJ’s monthly school-based programs
- 48 (and growing) COJ school-based bereavement groups offered monthly in 35 schools
- 1 in 12 Estimated number of Ohio children and teens who will experience the death of a parent or sibling by their 18th birthday. By age 24, this number doubles
- It only takes ONE person to make a difference. Will YOU be the one?

Your generous donations support the bereaved in many ways.

- Sending a crisis support team to schools experiencing the tragic loss of a student due to suicide or unexpected causes.
- Providing a listening ear to mothers and couples experiencing a miscarriage or the tragic loss of an infant.
- Planning monthly Family Memorial Events, where bereaved families come together to honor loved ones and experience connection and healing.
- Purchasing art supplies and pizza lunches for our school-based grief groups, where children and teens are able to express and process their grief in creative, supportive ways.
- Organizing social outings and monthly support for widows and widowers of all ages.
- Providing hope and healing to suicide survivors – those who’ve lost a loved one to suicide.
- Hosting open grief support groups for those grieving the loss of a parent, friend, child, or other close loved one.
- Supporting the development of curriculum materials for COJ’s educational grief trainings held throughout Greater Cincinnati and beyond which provide clergy, business owners, caretakers, and every day citizens with tools to better support one another through the grief process.

These are just a few of the ways in which your dollars are transformed into love for the bereaved through Companions on a Journey!

The majority of COJ’s programs are provided to community members free of charge and are made possible through the generosity of donors like YOU!
